Submitted to His Highness.

As per Government order of April 1903, such privilege leave as an officer may have at his credit prior to his retirement is allowed to be taken by him. Article 191 of the Service Regulations, however, does not authorize any extra expenditure in arranging for the work of officials whose pay is less than ₹100, if the period of their leave exceeds one month In ordinary cases, where no retirement is involved, heads of offices use their discretion in granting leave with due regard to the state of the work at the time. In cases of superannuation, this discretion can not be exercised and work often suffers, especially when more than one official is retired in an office. A note may, therefore, be added to Article 191, consistently with the order of April 1903, to the effect that the rule prohibiting extra expenditure does not apply to officials who are granted privilege leave preparatory to retirement.

SIR,

With reference to Government Proceedings No.1509 -136/P & A.1396 dated 20th April 1903, directing that such pri--vilege leave as an officer may be entitled to, at the time of retirement, be granted to him preparatory to his retirement fro Service, I have the honor to state that under the note to claus (1) of Article 94 and Article 191 of the Mysore Service Regula--tions, no arrangements can be made for filling up appointments on less than ₹100 rendered vacant by the absence of the perma--nent incumbents on privilege leave for more than one month at time, so as to impose extra cost on Government. It is found in--convenient to make temporary arrangements during the absence o officials on privilege leave prior to retirement, as it happens very often that more than one official is retired at the same time. Besides, while applications, from officials drawing less than ₹100, for privilege leave for more than one month at a time can, at the discretion of the officers concerned, be refus--ed when exigencies of service do not permit the grant of leave applications for privilege leave preparatory to retirement can--not be so refused in the face of the Government Order referred to above. Nor is it found possible to avoid making arrangements during the absence of officials on leave of the latter descrip--tion as work would otherwise suffer seriously. The Deputy

Deputy Commissioners of the Districts have therefore been frequently urging the necessity for incurring extra expenditure in making arrange-ments in such cases which usually occur in large numbers at the begin-ning of each official year when superannuated officials are generally retired. To obviate the necessity for making references in each indi-vidual case which would entail unnecessary delay and correspondence, I would recommend that the orders of Government may be passed on the question generally and if approved, a note added to the Articles of the Mysore Service Regulations that extra expenditure can be incurred in such cases.

I have the honor to be,

Sir,

Your most obedient servant,

SIR,

V/F1977(2)2337

With reference to your docket No. F1:2933 dated 28th April 1903 forwarding for opinion a letter from the Revenue Commission proposing that provision be made in the Mysore Service Regulatio for incurring extra expenditure in making arrangements for filli up vacancies caused by the absence of officials (on less than Rs.100) on privilege leave preparatory to retirement, I have the honor to state that under the rules as they now stand, such offi -cials will have to forfeit a moiety of their pay or more for mak proper provision for the conduct of their work during their ab- sence on privilege leave and they may therefore prefer taking pe -sion at once which in the majority of cases will be equal to the half pay to their obtaining privilege leave preparatory to retir -ment. Accordingly if the officials in question choose to retire finally, the Government will have to pay pension to the retired official and full pay to his successor. Such an arrangement is t therefore beneficial either to Government or to the retired offi -cial. I am therefore of opinion that privilege leave with full p may be given to such officials, the extra cost that may be in-
